

Help your clients to be Compassionate Travellers

Every week, the World Society for the Protection of Animals (WSPA) receives a couple of calls from upset New Zealanders wanting to know what they can do to halt the acts of animal cruelty they have witnessed while holidaying overseas.

In answer to this plea for advice, WSPA has produced the Compassionate Traveller Guide - a series of animal friendly tips for New Zealanders holidaying overseas.

WSPA's simple animal friendly tips ensure travellers don't unwittingly encourage animal exploitation. It also provides guidance on what to do if they come across animal cruelty on their travels.

Tourist activities that involve the mistreatment of animals exist for one reason, and one reason only, tourists choose to support them.

Please help stop this cycle of cruelty by helping your clients to be Compassionate Travellers.

Copies of the Compassionate Traveller Guide are available free of charge from WSPA by phoning 09 309 3901 or emailing bridgetvercoe@wspa.org.nz
